

Two Jungles

© 2013 by Jack Smith (Jack the Old Cowboy)

Vietnam and Thailand two jungles apart
Guarded and defended by men of the same heart

All called to serve and perform their duties
Standing guard and securing the boundaries

Two Jungles apart but still standing side by side
When the enemy attacked their entrance was denied

One called a War zone the other a Base of duty
But all acted and overcame the threats boldly

With welcome arms we greet each other
Accepting all our brothers with honor

No two jungles hold us apart now
As side by side we stand so proud

Some never made it back and God's grace was earned
We welcome home now to all that returned.
