

Stranger in the Mirror

© 2006 by Jackie R. Kays

A photograph is just a reflection of someone, for only seconds after the picture has been taken, the subject begins its metamorphosis, unnoticeable at first, then little by little as time marches on...the hours, days, months and years fly quickly by; the subject changes...no longer the image in the picture... but a stranger in the proverbial mirror.