Telling it like it was!

I took these while working the flight line at Tân Sơn Nhứt. I believe they are are of the same C-118 that landed with some sort of emergency. What I remember of this incident is shortly after they gave the all clear and the aircraft began to taxi again the the front nose gear collapsed.

1. TSN AB: This photo is of the helio port across the street from the 377th SPS Barracks. What I remember most were helicopters seemingly coming and going at all hours of the day and night. My memory is it took me about three days before I can say I quit hearing them even when I was awake.

2. TSN AB: Helio Port across from 377th SPS Barracks.

3. TSN AB: Heleo Port Hanger and Huey parking.

4. TSN AB: These are photos I took of the area out side the wire at Tân Sơn Nhứt, and showed my parents what it looked like. In this photo you can see where a claymore was set up.

5. TSN AB: Perimeter fence line.

6. TSN AB: Vietnamese Farm, outside the perimeter wire.

11. TSN AB: Downtown Saigon, en route to Biên Hòa AB Firing Range.

12. TSN AB: Once while I was at Tân Sơn Nhứt AB we traveled to Biên Hòa AB for weapons qualification. These photos were taken going to Biên Hòa and at their range. And no we did not have that many left handed shooters. They printed the picture backwards and I can't find the negatives to correct it. [corrected/Don Poss]

13. Biên Hòa AB: Range for weapons qualification.

16. NKP RTAFB: A couple of picture I have of the Town Patrol Office in NKP.
My memory is a base photographer took these photos for the base newspaper.
That's me standing on the other side of the desk. I don't remember the name of the Sgt standing in the desk area.

17. NKP RTAFB: Town Patrol Office.

18. NKP RTAFB: I took the following pictures when the Royal Thai King visited NKP.
