Roland Morin Is Killed In Korea War

AUGUSTA—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Z. Morin, of 15 Summer Street, were notified by Defense Department telegram Thursday afternoon that their son, Corporal Roland J. Morin, had been killed in action Nov. 1, 1950 as the result of participating in Korean operations.

The telegram was signed by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force.

The 22-year-old corporal has been in the far eastern area since the start of the Korean war. He enlisted in the Air Force September 13, 1948, and was attached to the 5th Division Air Force, Air Police Squadron.

Born September 10, 1928 at Gorham, N. H., he attended St. Augustine's parochial school here, Smith School and Cony High School. He was later employed at the Hudson Pulp and Paper Company mill as a yard worker before his enlistment.

After enlisting, he received his basic training at San Antonio, Texas.

His parents, two brothers, Gerard and Lionel, and a sister, Rita, all of Augusta, survive.

Funeral services will be announced.

MOTHER SHAKES OFF WAR—On Armistice Day, 1950, Mrs. Joseph Z. Morin, of Summer Street, looks at the photograph of a son, Roland, 22, who was killed in Korea a short week before. According to a letter from Brig. Gen. E. H. Underhill, Corporal Morin was killed by an enemy land mine while preparing food for his ground search party. But this is not the first time war has come close to the Morin home. This Gold Star Mother first knew war at its worst when a brother, Viateur Beaudoin, was killed in action in the First World War. In World War II again, grief came double as two Marine Corps nephews, Emile Beaudoin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elise Beaudoin of Augusta and Corp. Alfred J. Dalgie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dalgie, were killed in the Pacific war. Beaudoin lost his life at Peleliu, while Corp. Dalgie was killed on Tinian Island after he and a buddy as a machinegun team, had killed over 200 Japanese soldiers defending the island. Two other sons are still at home, Lionel, 20, and Gerard, 23.
