

What Others Judge Your Life to be...
(c) 2011 by Chaplain Steve Janke

The sum of our lives is what others judge their worth.

Still, many in later years measure others not by whom they are today but against a small time frame decades old. Ironically, they themselves no longer measure up to their own ruler of life. Such filled the ranks of the brown shirts... and make some feel one-up on others who likely succeeded in live far beyond their own.
